Description
It pops-up when the user is editing regimen with the forecasting file open and the medicine listed in the forecasting no longer exist in the regimens dictionary that the user has changed.
Proposal:
- Display a clear warning message when users try to edit Medicines and Treatment regimens dictionaries with one forecasting file still open.
- Request users to close the opened forecasting if they try to edit Medicines and Treatment regimens dictionaries. However, if they want to they could go ahead.

- The warning message should be displayed when user try change the medicines or regimens list by clicking the buttons new, edit or delete. Currently the messages pops up when user simply click on the medicines or regimens names in the main menu. In this case, if the user just wants to check the lists it would be okay.

- Change the title of the warning message (dialog box) from "Do you want to continue?" to "Changing medicines or regimens".

- Change the text of the warning message to below:

If you change the medicines or regimens lists after they have been used in a forecasting, the changes won't appear in the forecasting. For the changes to appear in the forecasting you must un-select the regimen you changed, click OK, and then re-select the regimen you changed and click OK. When you do this, you will lose your case information for that regimen, so be sure to copy it before un-selecting the regimen.

Do you want to continue?
(Buttons "Yes" pre-selected and "No")
