Really, if you change a regimen the system don't ask you the last date of use of the regimen the is beeing changed. But I guess that if you change a regimen in the middle it is not the regimen in question any more. So changing medicine by medicine should be the right way, because the treatment result of a regimen changing isn't any of the regimens used, but is an individualized regimen.

I need A conference call with Gustavo and Ricardo to discuss some points.
